from the daring imagination of one of china's greatest living novelists comes a work of startling power and originality the story of a young man displaced to a small village in rural china during the 1960s told in the format of a dictionary with a series of vignettes disguised as entries a dictionary of maqiao is a novel of bold invention and a fascinating comic deeply moving journey through the dark heart of the cultural revolution entries trace the wisdom and absurdities of maqiao the petty squabbles family grudges poverty infidelities fantasies lunatics bullies superstitions and especially the odd logic in their use of language where the word for beginning is the same as the word for end little big brother means older sister to be scientific means to be lazy and streetsickness is a disease afflicting villagers visiting urban areas filled with colorful characters from a weeping ox to a man so poisonous that snakes die when they bite him a dictionary of maqiao is both an important work of chinese literature and a probing inquiry into the extraordinary power of language this study investigates how writers of deng xiaopinga tm s china undermined the grand narrative of official history by rewriting the past it showcases fictions of history by eleven chinese muslim and tibetan authors in terms of spatial schemes of fictional historiography

how has modern chinese literature emerged from the collision of domestic social upheaval foreign inspiration and sparks of creative genius during the past century sihe chen explores this question from a global perspective analysing how chinese authors assimilated western literary movements to create new forms of expression adapted to a society in rapid transformation the author then examines these global influences in the works of selected contemporary chinese novelists and poets he shows that the problems these writers confront are common to all peoples and that chinese literature expresses not only the story of china but also that of humanity leaving the world to enter the world focuses on the fictional and theoretical writings of han shaogong one of the most striking voices in contemporary chinese literature han played a central role in the root seeking trend that dominated the literary scene of the people s republic of china in the mid 1980s his work has won him acclaim from a wide range of readers in chinese and other languages a highlight being the 1996 novel dictionary of maqiao critics have labeled han the leader of a nationalist movement in search of a cultural identity mark leenhouts shows that han s role is much more complex demonstrating that his literary practice is a highly individual creative continuation of chinese tradition han s personal style transcends the narrow boundaries of root seeking as it has been portrayed in literary histories and criticism to date this rectification of the one sided image of han shaogong has profound implications for the significance of root seeking literature and for questions of tradition and modernity that have been among the most hotly debated topics in chinese literary intellectual and political thought throughout the 20th century leaving the world to enter the world does justice to the individuality of the literary author by taking the intrinsic structure of the literary work as its starting point leenhouts close textual analysis as intelligent and pragmatic as it is sensitive will help counterbalance the socio political orientation typical of much recent research by seeing han shaogong as a writer rather than a mouthpiece of historical forces this book opens up new perspectives for enjoying his

this is a powerful account of how the ruin and resurrection of zhuangzi in modern china's literary history correspond to the rise and fall of modern chinese individuality by examining the twentieth century reinterpretation and appropriation of zhuangzi the author explores modern chinese writers complicated relationship with tradition
