much of the debate curiously boils down to a very specific historical question namely did the nazis target the jews for genocide in a manner that was essentially different from their treatment of any other group under their rule there can be little doubt that the jews played a singular role in the nazi imaginaire and that german jewish policies distinguished them within the nazi universe of murder and fantasy but other groups clearly have been similarly targeted in other genocides the extent of the final solution was shaped by an antisemitism that was colored by a different element over and above the racism and ethno nationalism that explains the murder of other groups by nazi germany that element being the view of the jews as an implacable collective world enemy to be sure this makes the holocaust unique only within the context of the nazi empire the holocaust is particular to jews and yet has had increasing relevance for those who do not identify as jewish all jews everywhere were to be murdered because of their racial heritage was put into state policy on january 20 1942 at the wannsee conference witness to the genocide of the jews is a uniquely jewish experience because only jews were targeted by that policy even if other groups were targeted for genocide under other policies the nazi regime committed genocide against the roma and sinti governed by separate policies they also committed war crimes against soviet prisoners of war under other policies so too the mass murder of disabled and the mentally ill had their own policies the nazis committed multiple genocides and crimes against humanity at the same time sometimes in the same place governed by different laws policies and practices it is not correct to say that there were many victim types during the holocaust if by the holocaust we mean the genocide of the jews stone 2023 introduction what is the holocaust this is why the focus here is on the jews roma the disabled soviet pows homosexuals and other groups were victims of the nazis and it is entirely legitimate to study their fate alongside one another but using the term holocaust to encompass all of these groups with the aim of being inclusive and not prioritizing one group suffering actually does a disservice to groups other than jews for the nazis persecuted these groups for different reasons reasons we fail to appreciate if we collapse them all together engel 2021 pp 3 5 this book is about an encounter between two sets of human beings on one hand the people who acted on behalf of the german state its agencies xxii or its almost 66 million citizens between 30 january 1933 and 8 may 1945 on the other the more than 9 million jews and those discoveries about the encounter between the third reich and the jews made that encounter stand out in the minds of many from other instances of nazi persecution and encouraged observers to assign it its own special name jackson 2021 pp 199 200 the nazis killed some people almost exclusively due to their supposed genetic inferiority the mentally and physically handicapped slavs roma they killed others almost exclusively due to their perceived cultural decadence communists democrats modernist authors and artists but only the jews were indicted on both grounds simultaneously and with equal vigor this is not to say that roma communists and others were not hated and murdered by the nazis but it is to note that the jews were unique in being despised and assaulted in every dimension of their identity corporeal and psychic sahlstrom 2021 p 291 the established understanding of the holocaust today as the genocide of six million jews
