the novels of australia s nobel laureate patrick white 1912 1990 are a persistent commentary on nietzsche's proclamation of god's death as white knew the proclamation was not about god's existence but about classical views of god it presented him with the impossible task of using language to describe what language cannot describe this has always been one of the more misunderstood aspects of his literary vision because the announcement is often interpreted in antithetical ways atheistic theistic secular religious humanistic and fatalistic critics should gain a better understanding of what white was trying to achieve by comparing him with his post war contemporaries from england scotland and canada iris murdoch william golding muriel spark and robertson davies after and because of the war these authors all commented on the consequences of god's death along with white they worked with a shared pattern of tropes to explore the light and dark aspects of western consciousness and the civilization it has produced where did the pattern come from was it metaphysical or metapsychological these questions are complex as the pattern came from many sources simultaneously and synergistically but this book tackles these questions by describing that pattern this book considers how textual interpretation has been influenced by post kantian philosophy and aesthetics particularly the cultural transition from the correspondence theory of knowledge and truth to nietzschean perspectivism and the canonical transition from classicism to romanticism to modernism to postmodernism it discusses the principles of interpretation the concept of reason logos and how the west's model of mind evolved the novels of jane austen introduce the concept of classicism including her debt to aristotle's thinking about tragedy and comedy in poetics the two trajectories of romanticism are discussed the philosophical trajectory through berlin's idea of counter enlightenment the immanent critique of metaphysics and the aesthetic trajectory through blake's vision of what is possible if the doors of perception can be cleansed the novels of australia's patrick white introduce the concept of modernism and his attempt to imagine the real the novels of margaret atwood introduce the concept of postmodernism tracing her literary evolution from an author focused on female identity to one concerned with the future of humanity the novels of graham greene and muriel spark are discussed as two different catholic responses to modernism the novels of marilynne robinson and douglas wilson are discussed as two different protestant responses to calvinism galligan professor emeritus english western michigan u kalamazoo argues that contemporary american critics should embrace literary truths with all of their uncertainties rather than cling to make believe certainties of ideologies he celebrates values commonly associated with modern not postmodern criticism applying them to contemporary works in a series of fresh and unusual inquiries he finds implications for criticism in work from the physical sciences and in the works of largely ignored novelists annotation copyrighted by book news inc portland or
